

Exercise 1.5

Is the separation method used in brewing a cup of coffee best described as distillation, filtration, or chromatography? [Section 1.3]

Solution

The separation method being used here is filtration because water passes through a filter, leaving solid ground coffee behind.