

Exercise 1

Is $\sqrt{2}$ an example of a rational terminating, rational repeating, or irrational number? Tell why it fits that category.

Solution

$\sqrt{2}$ is an irrational number because it cannot be represented as a ratio of integers.